THIRD CONTEST OF BIG SERIES PLAYED TODAY

St. Louis Banks on Bill Hallahan and Philadelphia As Silent As Ever.

CARDS CONFIDENT

A's Expect To End Series In West.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—"Not Licked yet."

That was the attitude today of the St. Louis Cardinals, "under dogs" in the current world series, as they grimly prepared to do battle with the high-flying Philadelphia Athletics at their own Sportsman's park this afternoon.

"We are going to apply the brakes," declared Gobby Street, manager of the skidding Red Birds.

And the fans in this "show me" state of Missouri evidently think they can. For droves of loyal supporters from miles around have flocked into this busy metropolis by train and automobile to see the Cards "go" this afternoon.

Every hotel in town is jammed with visitors. These Missourians have got to be "shown." They will be out there this afternoon, waiting to root for the home team.

BANK ON BILL

St. Louis honestly thinks "Bill" Hallahan, the Cardinals' star southpaw "smoke ball" pitcher will stop the A's. Even if manager Connie Mack shoots "Lefty" Grove back at them. But the experts are not looking for Grove today. They believe Mack, having the Red birds two down, will gamble a bit and send either "Bill" Shores, a strong young right-hander or "Rube" Walberg, a fast left hander to the mound.

But if you imagine the A's are worrying about Hallahan, or the ultimate outcome of the series, you have guessed wrong.

"We expect to end the world series right here in St. Louis," Jimmy Dykes, crack third baseman of the A's told International News Service in a little private "fanning bee."

Other members of the A's who happened to be within ear shot, heartily concurred in the view.

I found Dykes reclining in a chair on the lawn of the Kingsway Hotel, out in the Western part of the town, far away from the milling throngs in the lobbies of the downtown hotels. This is where the A's are quartered. Most of the Cardinals were at their homes scattered about the city.

"If Grove goes in there it will be a cinch," Dykes predicted, speaking of today's game. "He is the fastest pitcher I have ever seen in my thirteen seasons with the A's—bar none. Why he wasn't right when he beat the Cards the other day. Wait till he starts pouring them across the plate as only he can pour them."

Dykes was asked to compare the Cardinals with the Chicago Cubs whom the A's beat four out of five games in 1929 world series. "The Cubs packed a better punch" was Dykes' succinct reply. "Wilson, Cuyler and Stephenson were tough babies up there at the plate. Of course, the Cards have been losing to us and a losing club never looks good. We have lots of respect for them. Don't think we are going to let ourselves get overconfident. That would be one way to 'blow' this series. You can't bank on anything in baseball."

SIX INDICTED IN OIL SWINDLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Six men indicted by the Federal grand jury for their alleged part in the manipulation of Manhattan electrical supply stock will be arraigned for pleading early next week. The stock pool was said to have cost the public $4,000,000 last spring.

The indictment was handed up to Federal Judge McCormick of California, a members of President Hoover's law enforcement commission.

The defendants are Richard F. Brown, Howard Boulton, Charles Woram, Charles F. Petree, Charles H. McCarthy and Norman B. Ross. Ross was said to be a Texas oil operator.

Interior Chief Charges Oils Sold to Interests

Ralph S. Kelley, chief of the General Land Office, at Denver, Colo., has been asked by Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, to appear at the Capitol prepared to disclose information to the Senate Committee. He says $40,000,000,000 oil fields were sold for $2,000,000.

TWO HURT AS CAR CRASHES INTO WAGON

Log-Wagon Without Lights Causes Accident In Scioto Trail Friday.

FORD WRECKED

James Rodenfels, Columbus, Suffers Injury.

L. James Rodenfels, N. High-st., Columbus, and Miss Louise Carney of Sunbury, escaped serious injury at 8:45 p. m. Friday when the Ford coupe driven by the former crashed into a log-wagon on the Scioto Trail south of town. The wagon was running without lights, according to Rodenfels, who said he was driving south on the highway and saw the wagon and horses when he was only 15 yards from them. He turned his car in an effort to get around the wagon but when he snapped the wheels, the car struck the rear end of a projecting log.

The Ford went into the ditch on the left side of the road and was badly damaged. The entire left side where the car struck the log was smashed in and glass around the car was broken. The windshield was not shattered however.

Rodenfels, who was treated by Dr. Harry D. Jackson, suffered a badly bruised left knee and a gash on his forehead. Miss Carney suffered an injured nose. Both, after treatment at the hospital where they were taken by Fred M. Findley of Oak Hill, who was passing the scene, were able to go to their homes.

Traveling bags which the couple had in the car were taken before anyone could get to the car after the wreck.

The identity of the driver of the wagon which was struck by the Coupe is not known.

INDOOR COURSE OPENS TONIGHT

C. A. C. Gymnasium Location of Pee-Wee Course; Layout Is Perfect.

Circleville's first indoor miniature golf course will be opened to the public in the basement of the C. A. C. gymnasium at 6 p. m., this evening. The course is owned by Will Hamilton and is managed by Doty Courtwright.

The basement of the C. A. C. gym has been turned into a perfect layout for a pee-wee golf course and it is expected a nice crowd will attend the opening of the new playground.

A color scheme of green has been carried out by the owner with plenty of difficult holes arranged. With cool weather now prevailing it is expected Circleville will become just as golf-minded over indoor golf as it did over outdoor golf this summer.

SOCIETY BEGINS CHILD CAMPAIGN

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4.—A campaign designed to induce parents throughout Ohio to make prompt reports of illness among their children is being waged today by the Ohio Society for Crippled Children.

Announcement was made at a meeting of the society's board of directors here Friday night that the number of infantile paralysis cases now reported in this state is about one-third the number recorded during the epidemic in 1927.

Methods of checking this disease and of obtaining employment for cripples after they receive their education were discussed. Bills to be presented to the Ohio legislature this winter will be discussed at a session of the society here next January.

MEDICS MEET

The Pickaway County Medical Association together with the staff of Berger Hospital met in regular session Friday at 8:30 p. m. at the hospital. They met the first Thursday in the month. The meeting was an open discussion.

Held For Slaying Dry Agent in N. J.

Samuel Grossman, alleged gunman, was arrested by Federal agents in Chester, Pa., in connection with the murder of John G. Finello, prohibition agent, in Elizabeth, N. J. Grossman figured prominently in the racket grand jury investigation in the Quaker City in 1928.

61 HELD IN DOPE CLEANUP

Cleveland and Akron Are Scene of Raids By Federal Men Friday Night.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4.—Sweeping two northern Ohio cities—Cleveland and Akron—in the biggest "dope" cleanup in years, federal narcotic agents early today seized thousands of dollars worth of drugs, including a large quantity of the deadly heroin, and arrested 61 persons.

The raids, which were directed by Ralph H. Oyer, agent in charge of the Ohio and Michigan district were said to be the first part of a vigorous drive that has been planned under the cover of secrecy for months. Agents who conducted the raids were recruited from Detroit, Toledo, Akron and Cleveland.

More than $50,000 worth of drugs were seized and 31 persons were arrested in Cleveland by the federal men. In Akron, according to Oyer, 30 persons were arrested and many thousands of dollars worth of narcotics were confiscated.

Among those arrested in Akron according to the reports, was a notorious "narcotic king" who is believed to be responsible for flooding this section of the state with drugs.

Most of the arrests this morning, according to Oyer, were made on evidence secured by undercover agents during last three weeks. The confiscated drugs, the federal agents said, were apparently all shipped to Cleveland from New York.

One of the arrests in Cleveland was made in Public Square, where federal agents had learned certain "dope peddlers" met their clients.

Raders broke into a resort in southeast Cleveland and seized a quantity of Mexican laughing drug known as Maana. Three women who were in the place attempted to hold off the federal agents at the point of revolver. They were finally subdued, however.

COOLIDGE HAVE SILVER WEDDING

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 4.—Former President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge today quietly celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at their estate, "The Beeches."

Later today the Coolidges are expected to reach a Boston suburb where they will attend the American Legion convention with a stop en route for the night at Henry F. Fawcett in Sudbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were married in Burlington, Vt., on October 4, 1905.

MATRON FOUND MURDERED AT BOYS' SCHOOL

Crimson Imprint of Bloody Hand Is Only Clue Police Have of Slayer.

ICE PICK USED

Reformatory In Pennsylvania Is Scene.

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 4.—The crimson imprint of a bloodstained hand was expected today to eventually lead to the apprehension of the brutal slayer of Mrs. Vida Robare, attractive 33-year old instructress of the Glen Mills school for boys, a state reformatory, a few miles west of this city.

The dead woman was found partially disrobed lying on the school grounds last evening. She had been stabbed to death with an ice pick, her skull fractured and a rib broken. 38 wounds in all marred her breast, back and skull. On the wall nearby was the clearly outlined print of the murderer's hand, stained with the blood of his victim.

The crime was discovered by the woman's husband when he returned home from his work at the reformatory at the end of the day. The couple occupied a cottage near the main school building.

From all indications the woman had been lying on her bed reading a novel when the murderer entered her room. The man, or youth, is believed to have attempted to attack her and when repulsed plunged the ice pick into her body numerous times. Only a maniac or a wildly crazed person could have committed the crime, officials say.

The inmates of the school were to be quizzed today by Delaware County authorities in an effort to discover if any of them were implicated in the crime. They are all boys ranging in age from 11 to 20 years sentenced by the courts of the state to attend the school at the institution until they are paroled after reaching the age of 16 or are automatically discharged at the age of 21.

County detectives also are investigating the possibility that a prowler might have entered the prison grounds and visited the woman in her cottage.

William J. McCarter, Jr., Delaware county district attorney, has assumed personal charges of the investigation into the crime. He is being assisted by Charles Edwin Fox, former Philadelphia district attorney.

Following an examination of the body of the victim by coroner George B. Frankensfield, it was found the woman also had been beaten. The fracture of her skull and rib were due to blows of a heavy blunt instrument, the coroner said.

Investigators today were searching for the ice pick and club or blunt instrument used to commit the crime.

WOMAN GUILTY IN ARSON CASE

ASHLAND, O., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Alma Young today bears the distinction of being the first woman in Ashland-co to be convicted of arson.

After deliberating two hours, a common pleas jury found her guilty Friday night of firing a barn belonging to Mrs. W. E. Jones, of Mansfield in Green township, August 26. Witnesses testified that Mrs. Young threatened to burn the barn. Even McNutt said that Mrs. Young stuck her hand in a straw pile in the barn which was in flames soon after she left.

GRANGES DONATE TO NEW HOSPITAL

Announcement has been made of several donations which have reached the Berger hospital in the past few days.

Salt Creek Valley grange gave a wheel chair to the hospital and Washington-twp. grange gave an electrical clock to the obstetrical room and a special clock for the operating room.

ORIGIN IS MYSTERY; FIRE DEPARTMENTS OF 3 CITIES ACTIVE

Fire which started from an unknown origin swept 15 ricks of straw in the yard of the Container Corporation of America Friday night and Saturday morning doing damage estimated at at least $125,000. The loss is covered by insurance, the quantity of which is unknown by the local office because all the insurance is handled through the main offices of the plant in Chicago. Mr. Hutchinson, chief of the insurance department of the corporation, is to come here Monday to determine the exact loss.

The flames leaped high into the air; the heat was noticed even on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad tracks where many spectators gathered to watch the fire. Crowds thronged every point of vantage within more than a block of the straw-yard watching the flames climb from one rick to another until 15 ricks were ignited. The flames leaping skyward were observed as far as Stoutsville on the east; the Warner Hill, on the Columbus-pk., far from the Scioto Trail toward Chillicothe and below the county line to the south.

The plant was not being operated Saturday because of low water supply. It was announced that work will probably be resumed Monday.

The plant employs approximately 175 persons.

SEEN BY HOFFMAN
The fire was observed by John Hoffman, Town-st., an employee of the straw-board company who was working at No. 4 paper machine. Hoffman looked out his

Straw-board To Operate Monday At Usual Time

"Our plant will begin operations Monday at 7 a. m. the usual time" said A. C. Moore, superintendent of the Container Cooperation of America Saturday after the worst part of the fire had been extinguished.

"The supply of straw in our yard after the fire will keep us in work for at least two months and the supply of straw coming into the yards will largely determine just how strong we can operate. The supply this fall has been greatly impaired by the drought but I believe we will be able to obtain enough straw that we will not be forced to curtail operations," continued the superintendent.

"This Container Cooperation officials gratefully thank the local and Chillicothe and Columbus fire departments for their great services, the citizens who did everything they could to help us, and those who furnished food for the firemen through the night," stated Mr. Moore in closing.

CHILD FOUND DEAD IN WELL

Four-Months Old Child Kidnaped Then Drowned; Home Also Robbed.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 4.—Stolen from its crib during the night, the four-months-old daughter of Paul Lewis, a farmer, was found drowned early today in a milk house within 50 yards of the Lewis' home.

Lewis reported that a purse containing $40 also was missing from his home.

The father said he had gone to the bedside of his infant daughter during the night and found her missing.

He immediately aroused the neighborhood and search for the kidnappers got under way.

The city of Waynesburg was sickened with horror when the little girl's body was found. Searching parties of citizens deployed through the countryside seeking some trace of the kidnappers.

Police were mystified as to a motive for the brutal killing of the child.

GERMAN VISITS DISPOSAL PLANT

Dr. Erich Schoot, research chemist representing Verstandsmigheids Fenar Glaswerks, at Lena, Germany, was an interested visitor at the Traverser Marl disposal plant Friday. He said that there is a firm in Germany in the straw-board business which could properly handle its waste. He expressed admiration and surprise at the results shown at the plant.

61 HELD IN DOPE CLEANUP

Cleveland and Akron Are Scene of Raids By Federal Men Friday Night.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4.—Sweeping two northern Ohio cities—Cleveland and Akron—in the biggest "dope" cleanup in years, federal narcotic agents early today seized thousands of dollars worth of drugs, including a large quantity of the deadly heroin, and arrested 61 persons.

The raids, which were directed by Ralph H. Oyler, agent in charge of the Ohio and Michigan district, were said to be the first part of a vigorous drive that has been planned under the cover of secrecy for months. Agents who conducted the raids were recruited from Detroit, Toledo, Akron and Cleveland.

More than $50,000 worth of drugs were seized and 31 persons were arrested in Cleveland by the federal men. In Akron, according to Oyler, 30 persons were arrested and many thousands of dollars worth of narcotics were confiscated.

Among those arrested in Akron, according to the reports, was a notorious "narcotic king" who is believed to be responsible for flooding this section of the state with drugs.

Most of the arrests this morning, according to Oyler, were made on evidence secured by undercover agents during last three weeks. The confiscated drugs, the federal agents said, were apparently all shipped to Cleveland from New York.

One of the arrests in Cleveland was made in Public Square, where federal agents had learned certain "dope peddlars" met their 'clients'.

Raiders broke into a resort in southeast Cleveland and seized a quantity of Mexican laughing drug, known as Marijuana. Three women, who were in the place attempted to hold off the federal agents at the point of a revolver. They were finally subdued, however.

COOLIDGES HAVE SILVER WEDDING

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 4.—Former President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge today quietly observed their silver wedding anniversary at their estate, "The Beeches."

Late today the Coolidges were expected to begin a leisurely automobile trip to Boston, where they will attend the American Legion convention, with a stop enroute for the night at Henry Ford's wayside inn, in Sudbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were married in Burlington, Vt., on October 4, 1905.

MATRON FOUND MURDERED AT BOYS' SCHOOL

GRANGES DONATE TO NEW HOSPITAL

Announcement has been made of several donations which have reached the Berger hospital in the past few days.

Saltcreek Valley grange gave a wheel chair to the hospital and Washington-twp grange gave an electrical clock to the obstetrical room and a special clock for the operating room.

ORIGIN IS MYSTERY; FIRE DEPARTMENTS OF 3 CITIES ACTIVE

Fire which started from an unknown origin swept 15 ricks of straw in the yard of the Container Corporation of America Friday night and Saturday morning doing damage estimated at at least $125,000. The loss is covered by insurance, the quantity of which is unknown by the local office because all the insurance is handled through the main offices of the plant in Chicago. Mr. Hutchinson, chief of the insurance department of the corporation, is to come here Monday to determine the exact loss.

The flames leaped high into the air; the heat was noticed even on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad tracks where many spectators gathered to watch the fire. Crowds thronged every point of vantage within more than a block of the straw-yard watching the flames climb from one rick to another until 15 ricks were ignited. The flames leaping skyward were observed as far as Stoutsville on the east; the Warner Hill on the Columbus-pk., far down the Scioto Trail toward Chillicothe and below the county line to the south.

The plant was not being operated Saturday because of low water supply. It was announced that work will probably be resumed Monday.

The plant employs approximately 175 persons.

SEEN BY HOFFMAN

The fire was observed by John Hoffman, Town-st., an employee of the straw-board company who was working at No. 4 paper machine. Hoffman looked out his

Mrs. Davis is a native of Nova Scotia.

YOUTHS ROB A. & P. STORE

Walk Into Chillicothe Store, Order Customers Aside, Make Getaway.

BULLETIN

Police were notified to watch for two young bandits who held-up an A. & P. grocery store at Chillicothe this morning. The two youths entered the store at Rose and Main-sts and with drawn revolvers ordered four customers aside and rifled the cash drawer.

The amount of loot is not yet known.

window and saw the flames leaping from a rick at the northwest corner of the yard. This was at exactly 5:35 p. m. He turned into the building to summon other workmen and when Hoffman with the other men went into the yard to combat the blaze sparks had

Straw-board To Operate Monday

At Usual Time

"Our plant will begin operations Monday at 7 a. m. the usual time" said A. C. Moore, superintendent of the Container Corporation of America Saturday after the worst part of the fire had been extinguished.

"The supply of straw in our yard after the fire will keep us in work for at least two months and the supply of straw coming into the yards will largely determine just how strong we can operate. The supply this fall has been greatly impaired by the drought but I believe we will be able to obtain enough straw that we will not be forced to curtail operations," continued the superintendent.

"This Container Corporation of America gratefully thank the local and Chillicothe and Columbus fire departments for their great services, the citizens who did everything they could to help us, and those who furnished food for the firemen through the night," stated Mr. Moore in closing.

CHILD FOUND DEAD IN WELL

Four-Months Old Child Kidnaped Then Drowned; Home Also Robbed.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 4.—Stolen from its crib during the night, the 4-months-old daughter of Paul Lewis, a farmer, was found drowned early today in a milk house within 50 yards of the Lewis' home.

Lewis reported that a purse containing $40 also was missing from his home.

The father said he had gone to the bedside of his infant daughter during the night and found her missing.

He immediately aroused the neighborhood and search for the kidnappers got under way.

The city of Waynesburg was sickened with horror when the little girl's body was found. Searching parties of citizens deployed through the countryside seeking some trace of the kidnappers.

Police were mystified as to a motive for the brutal killing of the child.

GERMAN VISITS DISPOSAL PLANT

Dr. Erich Schoot, research chemist representing Vorstandsmitglied des Fenar Glaswerks, at Lena, Germany, was an interested visitor at the Travers Marl disposal plant Friday. He said that there is a firm in Germany in the straw-board business which could not properly handle its waste. He expressed admiration and surprise at the results shown at the plant.

WIDOW SUES FOR $19,345 DAMAGE

WASHINGTON C. H. Oct. 4.—Suit for $19,345 has been filed by Mrs. Florence C. Ewing, widow of the late Reverend Emerson DeWitt Ewing, of Lancaster, as administratrix of her husband's estate, alleging that the automobile driven by her husband was forced off the road by a car that was driven by Harry Hughes, the injuries causing the Reverend Ewing's death.

It was just 26 years ago that the barn at the straw-board was burned when 20 mules died in the flames. About five years ago another fire was discovered at the plant which did little damage. Last year lightning struck a rick and did small damage.

covered the tops of all the nearby ricks and the yard was a mass of flames. Hose was drawn from the fire-houses in the yard, an alarm was sounded at the plant; the city fire department was called and a fight to put the blaze under control was started.

Observing the power of the flames which were swept by a breeze from the northwest, Fire Chief Talmer Wise notified Columbus and Chillicothe that help was needed. Columbus fire house No. 5 sent a pumper and a crew of five men from Thurman and Fourth-sts.

The Columbus department received the call at 6:30 p. m. and at 6:55 p. m. the truck was pumping water in the yard, a record run from Columbus to this city if there ever was one. The truck was driven by Leonard Kradel, captain of the company.

Chillicothe's truck was on hand a few minutes later and began pouring water on the flames in an effort to prevent the fire from spreading to the ricks at the south of the yard across the corporation's track. A fire here would have endangered the Home and Hospital.

During the greater part of Friday evening 16 lines of hose were feeding water on the fire.

BREEZE COMES UP

After the fire had progressed for two hours a stiffer breeze began beating across the straw-yard and Fire Chief Wise, taking special precaution to prevent the flames from spreading to the ricks at the south-end of the yard, ordered hose taken to the top of the ricks to thoroughly wet the straw to prevent it from igniting from sparks being blown from the ricks across the tracks. Sparks were tossed high into the air and onto the ricks which were unburned but the fact that water had been poured on the straw prevented ignition.

Saturday morning flames were still darting occasionally from the piles with most of the straw smoldering with a dark, thick smoke being emitted into the air. Firemen are constantly on the lookout for fresh outbreaks with Chillicothe and Columbus still helping the local department. Efficient work of local firemen and volunteers under the direction of Chief Wise is commended by officials of the company.

Cause for the fire is unknown and will probably remain that way. It is possible that a spark from a Chesapeake & Ohio railroad engine or from the Norfolk & Western may have caused the fire; it is possible that spontaneous combustion was the cause and it is still possible that a cigarette might have been dropped by a workman with this solution practically dismissed for no one had been working in the yard since 5 p. m. and a cigarette would have ignited the flames before 5:35 considering the extremely dry condition of the straw. The thought of spontaneous combustion is the one generally accepted by workmen at the plant.

SUMMARY OF LOSS

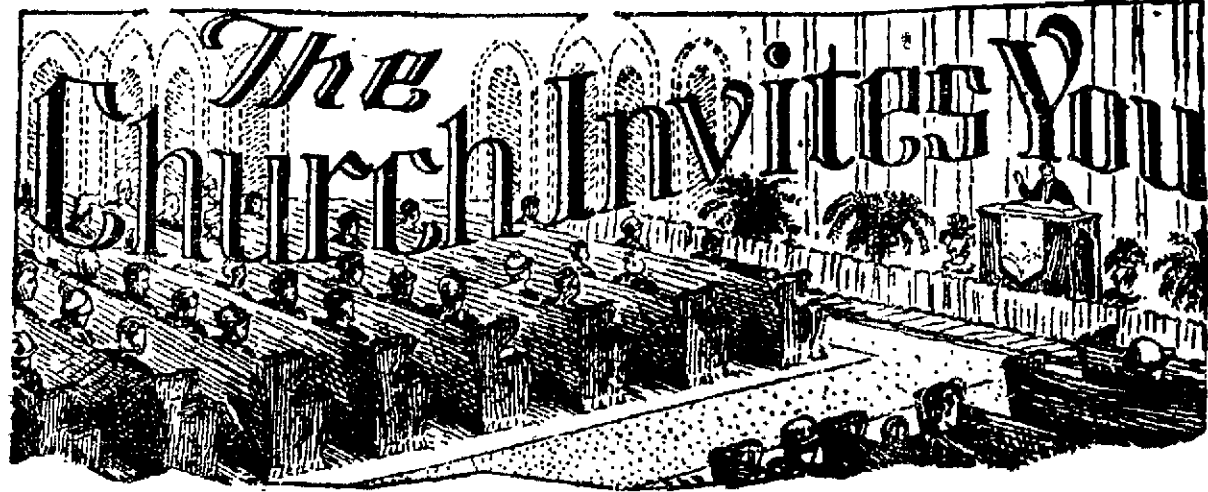

The yard before the fire contained 16,500 tons of straw in ricks. It is estimated that about half or 8,000 tons of this quantity has been destroyed. Seven thousand tons of the straw had been ricked this fall with 1,000 tons of that destroyed remaining from a year ago. There are 8,500 tons of straw across the track at the south of the yard which escaped the flames because of the action of Chief Wise in ordering water to be poured on the piles before sparks could take effect.

Walter Stout, an employee of the Circleville Tire Company, a volunteer fireman, suffered a broken nose when he was struck by a rampant hose nozzle and Officer William McCrady, one of the first men on the job, suffered an injured jaw and a "shiner" when he was struck by a free nozzle. No other injuries have been reported.

It was just 26 years ago that the barn at the straw-board was burned when 20 mules died in the flames. About five years ago another fire was discovered at the plant which did little damage. Last year lightning struck a rick and did small damage.

EXISTENCE OR LIFE
Existence or life, which? Existence consists of the bare facts of life, the universe in which we live, our heritage and birth, our desires and their gratifications, physical development and care, age and death; scientific faces have to do with existence.
Life is something more than existence although it includes existence; life is existence clothed in spiritual meaning, it is existence with a worthy purpose and a high hope; it is existence informed by spiritual insights and understandings, transfigured and glorified by a Christian faith and hope.
A real man cannot be satisfied with a mere existence. All creatures, except man, have nothing more than existence. Man may have life and have it "more abundantly." Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

On S. S. Lesson

We begin our study of this quarter's lesson with two worthy characters who represent the humble pious people that were spiritual bone and sinew of Judaism.
V. 5. "There was, in the days of Herod, king of Judea, a certain priest named Zacharias, of the course of Abiah; and he had a wife of the daughters of Aaron; and her name was Elizabeth." These two were well born, they considered home a sacred institution; they lived harmoniously together and wanted that their home should be a blessing to others.
V. 6. "And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless." They had both the inner spirit and the outer form of godliness.
Vs. 57, 8. "Now Elizabeth's time was fulfilled that she should be delivered; and she brought forth a son. And her neighbors and her kinsfolk heard that the Lord had magnified his mercy towards her; and they rejoiced with her." A new life brought a new hope for the future. God places a special premium on childhood. Christ was a child and he especially favored children.
Vs. 59, 60. "And it came to pass on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child; and they would have called him Zacharias."

Religion is the essential. The community without a church goes to pieces. Coolidge.

after the name of his father. And his mother said, not so; but he shall be called John." Names were significant with the Hebrews; there are good evidences that God had revealed to Zacharias among other things that the child should be called John which means a gift of God, and he had written out the name that his wife might know it; when he was asked what the child's name should be on that date, he wrote it on a tablet.
V. 64. "And his mouth was opened immediately and his tongue loosed and he spake blessing God." Because Zacharias did not believe the announcement of the birth of a son by an angel when he performed his priestly duties, he was dumb until the birth of the child.
Vs. 65, 66. "And fear came on all they that dwelt round about them; and all these sayings were noised abroad throughout all the hill country of Judea. And all that heard them laid them up in their heart, saying what, then shall this child be?" Such divine favor as seen accompanying the birth of this child was destined to play some important part in life. It is commendable that parents have high ambitions for their children.

On S. S. Lesson

We begin our study of this quarter's lesson with two worthy characters who represent the humble pious people that were spiritual bone and sinew of Judaism.
V. 5. "There was, in the days of Herod, king of Judea, a certain priest named Zacharias, of the course of Abiah; and he had a wife of the daughters of Aaron; and her name was Elizabeth." These two were well born, they considered home a sacred institution; they lived harmoniously together and wanted that their home should be a blessing to others.
V. 6. "And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless." They had both the inner spirit and the outer form of godliness.
Vs. 57, 8. "Now Elizabeth's time was fulfilled that she should be delivered; and she brought forth a son. And her neighbors and her kinsfolk heard that the Lord had magnified his mercy towards her; and they rejoiced with her." A new life brought a new hope for the future. God places a special premium on childhood. Christ was a child and he especially favored children.
Vs. 59, 60. "And it came to pass on the eighth day they came to circumcise the child; and they would have called him Zacharias."

Tigers Prove Easy For Grandview Team

Fight Missing In Opening Tilt Of Buckeye League

Lacking the fight and fire they showed so brilliantly at Lancaster just a week ago, Circleville's Tigers turned to mere Tiger cubs at Grandview Friday and when four periods of ragged football was ended Grandview was the winner, 27-0. The contest was the first in the Central Buckeye league for the local team and certainly turned out to be one fine football game, if you don't care what you say.

The Red and Black might just as well have used its second team at the start of the game as the team which went into the fray did nothing but watch the Grandview team score touchdowns. There was no fight, there was no zip, no pep in either the line or backfield. Tackling was poor, blocking was terrible. One reason for this apparent lethargy on the part of the team was a grand let-down after the Lancaster contest. Playing a good game in the Fairfield-co seat, just as Coach Herberholz expressed it, "the team was resting on its laurels instead of working" which didn't amount to much as far as the Grandview game was concerned.

PASS STARTS THINGS
Grandview's first score came early in the first period when with fourth down and 20 yards to go Anderson passed to Kioke for a touchdown. The pass was not a deceptive one but did just enough that it took all the morale out of the team. Grandview had advanced the ball to the five yard line with first down and goal to gain. The Tigers carried them back on each of three plays and the old fighting spirit seemed to be playing a big part in the battle. But from the time this pass was made good the team literally quit.

flat pass to Sargent was good for the extra point.

The second touchdown came shortly after the second period started when linemen came through and smothered an attempted punt. Kioke fell on the ball over the goal line. Another pass for point failed.

LOSE BALL
The third touchdown came in the third period after Grandview was given the ball when a Circleville back was called for clipping. Grandview had punted to Circleville and lies took the ball on 21 yard mark. When the foul was called the leather was given to Grandview. A first down and then Sargent took the leather through the center of the line from the five yard line. A pass to Sargent counted the extra point. The score was 20-0.

The fourth goal came on a 30 yard run by Phillips intercepted lies' pass to Hill deep in Circleville territory. Phillips' placement was good and the score was 27-0. That's the way the game ended.

Coach Herberholz sent his scrubs into the contest in the fourth period and they looked fairly good especially on the line.

No one seemed to play very hot football for the Tigers Hill was in there trying, so was lies, so was Freddie Smith in the first game he ever started, Dunlap was working hard and so was Dutch Hoffman but that wasn't enough. The game, all in all, was very disappointing after the contest at Lancaster last week.

AT THE MET

"Last of The Lone Wolf," by its title, heralds the finale to that series of amazing action dramas with the suave but dynamic Bert Lytell that Columbia has given to the screen world. Unless, of course, the Lone Wolf should imitate Sherlock Holmes, and be reborn brilliantly. Certainly, the interest of some millions of eager Lytell fans can not be disregarded.

Be that as it may, "Last of The Lone Wolf," which will be on view Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Met Theatre is said to be the peak of the Lone Wolf's exploits in the realm of intense action crook drama. A regal setting and a royal plot—the eternal triangle of a King, a Queen, an admirer—and a precious ring—are further calculated to whet the screen appetite.

Patsy Ruth Miller, Otto Matieson and Lucian Prival are others of the cast which was directed by the distinguished Richard Boleslavsky.

AT THE CLIFTONA

A beautiful woman who must fight for her honor against a hostile soldier on her own wedding night provides an interesting situation in "Bride of the Regiment," First National's all-Technicolor operetta coming Sunday to the Cliftona Theatre.

Her husband captured by Austrian forces, the countess must submit to the handsome Austrian leader or witness the death of her husband. The story is laid in Italy during the Austro-Italian war of 1920. It is based on the German novel and the New York musical hit "The Lady in Ermine."

Vivienne Segal and Allan Prior stage stars sing the leading roles of Countess and Count Beltrami. Walter Pidgeon is the Austrian Colonel Louise Fazenda, Ford Sterling, Myra Loy Lupino Lane and Harry Corling are prominent in the large cast.

AT THE GRAND

When a dinner guest, supposedly the one hired from an agency, arrives a trifle tipsy announcing himself as a "red tent" upon being the life of the party, what can the climbing "Tidmarshes" do?

Their plight is the amusing situation at the opening of "The Man From Blah," John Barrymore's latest. Walter Bros. comedy, which is scheduled to open at the Grand Theatre on Sunday next.

The opening of "The Man From Blah" makes one of the most interesting entertainments of the week. An audience, never so quiet, ever came out to a play than "The Man From Blah." Success in which John Barrymore makes his second appearance in a comedy. Mr. Barrymore is back. Grand William Allen, Frank Fitzgerald, Dick Henderson, Edgar Norton, Dale Fuller, Ang's Mabry and many others are included in the supporting cast. Alfred E. Green directed.

ONE
stand out!

IT IS the "just right" combination that makes for style in the gown — and good taste in a cigarette.

Nothing can take the place of the right use of the right tobaccos. Chesterfield's long-tested methods of mellowing and blending the choicest cigarette tobaccos have no counterpart. Thus Chesterfield stands out for—

MILDNESS—the entirely natural mildness of tobaccos that are without harshness or bitterness.

BETTER TASTE—such as only a cigarette of wholesome purity and better tobaccos can have.

Tigers Prove Easy For Grandview Team

Fight Missing In Opening Tilt Of Buckeye League

Lacking the fight and fire they showed so brilliantly at Lancaster just a week ago, Circleville's Tigers turned to mere Tiger cubs at Grandview Friday and when four periods of ragged football was ended Grandview was the winner, 27-0. The contest was the first in the Central Buckeye league for the local team and certainly turned out to be one fine football game, if you don't care what you say.

The Red and Black might just as well have used its second team at the start of the game as the team which went into the fray did nothing but watch the Grandview team score touchdowns. There was no fight, there was no zip, no pep in either the line or backfield. Tackling was poor, blocking was terrible. One reason for this apparent lethargy on the part of the team was a grand let-down after the Lancaster contest. Playing a good game in the Fairfield-co seat, just as Coach Herberholz expressed it, "the team was resting on its laurels instead of working" which didn't amount to much as far as the Grandview game was concerned.

PASS STARTS THINGS

Grandview's first score came early in the first period when with fourth down and 20 yards to go Anderson passed to Kloke for a touchdown. The pass was not a deceptive one but did just enough that it took all the morale out of the team. Grandview had advanced the ball to the five yard line with first down and goal to gain. The Tigers carried them back on each of three plays and the old fighting spirit seemed to be playing a big part in the battle. But from the time this pass was made good the team literally quit. A flat pass to Sargent was good for the extra point.

The second touchdown came shortly after the second period started when linemen came through and smothered an attempted punt. Kloke fell on the ball over the goal line. Another pass for point failed.

LOSE BALL

The third touchdown came in the third period after Grandview was given the ball when a Circleville back was called for clipping. Grandview had punted to Circleville and Iles took the ball on 21 yard mark. When the foul was called the leather was given to Grandview. A first down and then Sargent took the leather through the center of the line from the five yard line. A pass to Sargent counted the extra point. The score was 20-0.

The fourth goal came on a 30 yard run by Phillips intercepted Iles' pass to Hill deep in Circleville territory. Phillips' placement was good and the score was 27-0. That's the way the game ended.

Coach Herberholz sent his scrubs into the contest in the fourth period and they looked fairly good especially on the line. No one seemed to play very hot football for the Tigers. Hill was in there trying, so was Iles, so was Freddie Smith in the first game he ever started. Dunlap was working hard and so was Dutch Hoffman but that wasn't enough. The game, all in all, was very disappointing after the contest at Lancaster last week.

AT THE MET

"Last of The Lone Wolf," by its title, heralds the finale to that series of amazing action dramas with the suave but dynamic Bert Lytell that Columbia has given to the screen world. Unless, of course, the Lone Wolf should imitate Sherlock Holmes, and be reborn brilliantly. Certainly, the interest of some millions of eager Lytell fans can not be disregarded.

Be that as it may, "Last of The Lone Wolf," which will be on view Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Met Theatre is said to be the peak of the Lone Wolf's exploits in the realm of intense action crook drama. A regal setting and a royal plot—the eternal triangle of a King, a Queen, an admirer—and a precious ring—are further calculated to whet the screen appetite.

Patsy Ruth Miller, Otto Matieson and Lucian Prival are others of the cast which was directed by the distinguished Richard Boleslavsky.

AT THE CLIFTONA

A beautiful woman who must fight for her honor against a hostile soldier on her own wedding night provides an interesting situation in "Bride of the Regiment," First National's all-Technicolor operetta coming Sunday to the Cliftona Theatre.

Her husband captured by Austrian forces, the countess must submit to the handsome Austrian leader or witness the death of her husband. The story is laid in Italy during the Austro-Italian war of 1830. It is based on the German novel and the New York musical hit, "The Lady in Ermine."

Vivienne Segal and Allan Prior, stage stars, sing the leading roles of Countess and Count Beltrami. Walter Pidgeon is the Austrian Colonel. Louise Fazenda, Ford Sterling, Myrna Loy, Lupino Lane and Harry Cording are prominent in the large cast.

AT THE GRAND

When a dinner guest, supposedly the one hired from an agency, arrives a trifle tipsy, announcing himself as a lord intent upon being the life of the party, what can the climbing Tidmarshes do?

Their plight is the amusing situation at the opening of "The Man From Blankley's," John Barrymore's latest Warner Bros. comedy, which is scheduled to open at the Grand Theatre on Sunday next.

The ensuing adventures make one of the most hilarious entertainments that ever rocked an audience. Nothing funnier ever came out of Britain than Sir Charles Hawtrey's success in which John Barrymore makes his second talking picture appearance.

Time for Generosity

The report of farmers and county agents in Alabama on crop conditions there show a serious situation. According to the federal and state agricultural statisticians 26,000 tenant farm families will be without funds at the end of this harvest season. Few of them are skilled in any other line of work and "it will be practically impossible for them to find sustenance from outside work." This means destitution for about 130,000 men, women and children in that one state as a result of low prices of many farm crops and last summer's drought.

Even with general conditions showing a tendency to improve, the advance will come slowly. There will be many sections where suffering and deprivation will be acute. Welfare and government agencies will find relief resources taxed to the limit. It is a good year for generosity on the part of many fortunate Americans who, though having less than they hoped to have at the end of 1930, yet have enough for safety, comfort and health.

An economist foresees a scarcity of gold. But don't worry. Somebody has discovered the lost treasure of Peru again.

Lop-sided Efficiency

The head of an important engineering school tells the incoming students that the cause of the present depression may be found in the great success of the engineer, the industrial organizer and the research scientist who have created new processes, reduced waste and shifted the world's work from muscles to machines.

In other words, we've been a little too efficient in some ways and too inefficient in others. We've increased production efficiency amazingly without at the same time increasing distribution efficiency and without improving purchasing or consuming power. On the cultural side we've given ourselves more leisure without preparing ourselves to use it well.

How to make our achievements balance so that they remain benefits instead of becoming mischievous is a neat problem for rising engineers, scientists, sociologists and economists.

Now that we're on speaking terms with all the Latin-American countries again, and everything's friendly, what we are curious about is, how much do they want to borrow, and when do they need to have it?

Honoring Patrolmen

The other day in Washington, D. C., a patrolman was killed in a collision with a truck. The last man he had arrested prior to the accident was serving a jail sentence for drunkenness. The judge who had sentenced him sent for the prisoner and said:

"I am going to release you out of respect to the memory of the man who arrested you. I hope the stay in jail has been a lesson to you and that you will show your appreciation by not appearing in court again as a defendant as long as you live."

The decision set a precedent in district courts, it is said. One wonders whether it was a wise precedent. In these days when police arrest and the courts set free, it might seem to be a greater tribute to the memory of a faithful officer to have his prisoner kept in jail till the end of their term.

When the United States of Europe is or are organized, the right of succession will be explicitly understood.

Radio's Failure

Much was hoped from radio broadcasting in the realm of education. It offered wonderful opportunities for instruction in schools, colleges, homes, business offices and general places of assemblage.

In this country, it must be admitted, such hopes have been disappointed. Our radio system, though highly developed and giving excellent service in many ways, runs mostly to trivial entertainment and advertising. Such examples as that of the Chicago News radio station WMAZ, which emphasizes educational work in cooperation with the city schools, are notable exceptions.

The educational value of broadcasting is much better realized in European countries, where radio is largely under government control. We do not seem to like such "paternalism" here; but there might be some kind of compromise, preventing such complete commercial control.

"JUDY" By Winifred Van Duzer

PEGGY ARCHER would have preferred her daughter, Judith, to be a little more carefree and frivolous, instead of a purposeful and sensible young woman.

CHAPTER II.

IN Grade Room 2A the little teacher brought up a tired sigh, sent the spales home. She followed them to the corridor, glanced up and down, turned around and closed the door.

Standing with her back to the panels, dignity fell from her like a hated cloak. She crossed her arms at the back of her head, peered through a few dance steps, made a face at a picture of Ralph Waldo Emerson which hung on the wall.

She was no longer a purposeful young woman. No longer staid nor serious as she rushed to her desk, dug a key from a hiding place, flung open a drawer.

Mrs. Rowe didn't know it and Peggy didn't know it but there was more than a speck of nonsense about her.

Judith Archer was leading a double life! No one would have believed it. Not Mrs. Rowe nor Peggy nor anyone who ever had seen her striding down hill to the school house in her sensible blue serge, horn-rimmed spectacles flashing vague disapproval at the world, would have believed grave little spinsterish Judith Archer capable of a double life. No one excepting possibly Betsy Rowe, who frankly declared that no human being could be such a "darned pill."

Lyall-on-Hudson saw Miss Archer soberly working about the shaggy garden which ramblled around the weather-beaten old house. Balanced precariously on a tall ladder as she pruned fruit trees, hot and disheveled, face streaked with loam, as she transplanted shrubs. Bending over the vegetable patch in Spring twilights, nursing carrots and peas to a hardihood-sure to survive Peggy's casual attentions.

Demure of Sunday mornings as she strolled to church—suddenly scowling when old Peter Bontell came mincing up, besieging Peggy with his attentions. Competent and a bit sardonic with her head thrust under Hahmbal's Hood, poking at the six-year-old engine, coaxing it to life with bits of wire and rubber tape.

This was the Judy everybody knew. Sane. Dependable. No nonsense about her.

But there was The Other Judy. A fly-away Judy. Girl whose law was impulse, whose world was a magic place filled with long, shining hours that came and passed like songs. Hours of adventure. Romance. Love.

The first Judy made small shift of love. But that was because she had built around herself a hardness which could be very sharp at times as sharp as little knife blades. A protective matter this was, refuge to the mean trick Fate had played her. Fate had made her head of the family, brains of the household when she was a mere scared-eyed fifteen and had taught her that she must master the art of being sharp and hard if she were to hold her own in a world all too patently created for the pleasure and profit of the male. Men!

Bossy creatures, men. Always seizing a chance at the upper hand. Patronizing women, grinning at them, pitying them. Peacocks!

Wild Flowering Plants

The number of species of flowering plants that grow wild in the United States and Canada is estimated at about 10,000.

One more point fascinated Judy. The robbers were Americans. They had talked back and forth while Mr. Covington and his guests writhed helplessly before the menace of the automatic, and there was no doubt of this. New York police promised arrest within forty-eight hours after the burglars landed in New York, if they did land. Mr. Covington had given descriptions of them; one was a mere youngster and looked like a college boy; the other was a leggy individual with long arms and a snarling manner of speech.

Judy read the story, visualizing the scene in the London dining room. She thrilled to the thought of "Hands up!" barked out sharply while the light played along the blue-black barrel of the gun.

So absorbed she was that she jumped at a tap on the door. Caught her breath. Answered in a thick, smothered voice.

Only little Roy Varmon after all. Little Roy Varmon's sleek, lightish head thrust around the side of the door. His pale eyes seeking her timidly. His voice bluff and cheery with a quake underneath.

"Well, Miss Archer. Well, well! Ready to call it a day?" Judy raised her head slowly. Light played upon the lenses of her spectacles and from where he stood her expression was the blank one of uncurtained windows.

"No," she said, and went back to the papers on her desk. She did not see angry red creep up his pointed face. She paid no attention to his step as he moved forward and stood there watching her. He, the principal, and she a lower grade teacher! He made a furious movement—caught a light glancing off her spectacles again, backed off.

"Well, I didn't know but what you'd take a walk. Stroll out to North Mountain, Miss Archer?" "No."

"Well, I didn't know. G-good day."

She did not answer. He closed the door softly and tip-toed away down the corridor. And then she raised her head and sent a little grimace after him. "Peacock!" she hissed.

A half-hearted hiss, however. The sort of hiss a cat gives at sight of a dog on the other side of a window pane and it was meant for little Roy Varmon than for his sex.

Judy put down the papers now and thought it over. Undoubtedly there were in the world, the real world, not the world of the other Judy—men almost as fine and noble and lovable as her father had been. Men who considered women intelligent and sometimes honest. She admitted this. As yet she had met only the other kind—the tricky, lord-of-creation kind—and of course it was because of what Fate had done to her.

Peggy Archer left a widow with that rambling old Archer homestead in its rambling old stretch of lawn and just about enough to live on until Judy could begin to earn this when she was fifteen. Peggy couldn't manage. She would buy flowers instead of good steak for the table, and cunning little party dresses for Judy when she hadn't shoes.

So at fifteen, Judy had taken over the management of Peggy's income. And part of the management of the house. And of Peggy herself, for the matter of that!

PICKAWAY SCHOOLS

Our High School Athletic Association has reorganized for the year with the following officers: president, Wells Wilson; v. president, Ross Dodd; secretary, Ruth McKenzie; treasurer, Marshall Spangler; sergeant-at-arms, Robert Miller; board of control, Mary Ruth Tolbert and Stanley Dunkle. The coach, president, and secretary are ex-officio members of this board.

The Stoutsville teams played ball here last Friday, their boys winning 18 to 5, and our girls winning 25 to 15. The Washington teams will play here Friday afternoon this week.

Our first P. T. A. meeting of the year will be Friday night. Some important business will come up, and we hope to have a large crowd. Every patron is welcome. Included on the program are a few musical numbers and an address by the Reverend Alexander.

We now have three instrumental music instructors on our staff: Mr. Elliott, violin and cello; Mr. Morrison, clarinet, saxophone, drums; Mr. Todhunter, trumpet and trombone. More than twenty boys and girls are preparing to play in our school orchestra.

Under the direction of Mr. Meyer, several of our rooms are organizing Nature Guardian Clubs. These clubs are sponsored by the State of Ohio in the interest of the preservation and protection of nature in its many forms.

On last Thursday afternoon Mr. Nolin Hathaway, Inspector for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, gave an interesting talk to our pupils and drivers on the subject of "Safety on School Buses."

Miss Rosemary Boggs furnished special music for assembly Monday morning—Mary Ruth Tolbert at the piano.

Along with the constitutional rights of free speech, thought, press and assembly, don't forget the right to demonstrate. This country would blow up if free-born Americans—no matter where they were born—couldn't parade for something once in a while.

That "Tired Feeling" in The Morning

Something's Wrong When Fatigue Hangs On, Says Authority Advising the Simple Life.

By R. S. COPELAND, M. D.
U. S. Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

It isn't a good sign to be tired all the time. It isn't natural to get up in the morning tired as you were the night before. You just cannot compete with the rest of the world when everything looms large before you, when you are just able to drag yourself around.

There are plenty of reasons for these symptoms. The condition often comes from lack of proper sleep and rest. It may be that you keep late hours, or are overworked, or overanxious and worried about something. Of course, if you cannot sleep, you are going to be tired the next day.

Perhaps no two things have caused so much ill health as chronic constipation and indigestion. They are the most common causes of that "tired feeling."

You cannot hope to absorb for days and weeks the toxic poisons thrown off by waste material in the intestinal tract without having real trouble. Nothing breaks down the vigor and vitality more quickly. It will depend upon your powers of endurance or "your constitution" just how long you can hold out against these insidious poisons.

Kidney, heart and liver troubles bring with them a sense of fatigue. Here again poisons infect the system and heart weakness reduces the power and force of the circulation of the blood.

This first thing to do in a case like this is to consult your doctor. He will find the cause of your tiredness. When the seat of trouble is found you should abide by the doctor's advice and treatment. That tired feeling will disappear only when the cause is removed.

For formation of any description will set up poisons in the system. These produce fatigue and bad health. It may be an abscessed tooth or pussy sinus. Perhaps it is diphtheria, tonsillitis, sinus or ear troubles are far-reaching in their bad results. Any of these toxic poisons may be carried to every part of the body and block the stream, producing bad health.

None of these things should be neglected. The trouble cannot be removed on your own. Nose and throat should be examined by a competent doctor and the eyes and ears come in for his scrutiny. A thorough examination is necessary to be sure there is no hidden trouble.

When you are tired and run down you should give yourself an unusual quantity of rest and sleep. It is only in sleep and rest that the nerves and muscles make up for the energy lost. You must help nature do her work of recuperation by living a simple life, eating simple food, and if you can get away for a change and relaxation do so by all means.

Answers to Health Queries

H. S. R. Q.—What will help high blood pressure? What is the cause and what are some of the distinguishing features?

A.—Proper diet and general care should bring about improvement.

Mrs. E. H. Q.—What do you advise for high blood pressure?

A.—Careful attention should be given to the diet, eliminating foods such as eggs, red meat and excessive salt.

FOOTBALL, STUDY AND ELIGIBILITY

We've all heard about the "dying for dear old Rutgers" school spirit and are glad that most of our boys have that spirit, but there is also such a thing as "study for dear old Rutgers."

Eligibility lists passed out to the teachers Monday showed some unripe sprouts cut to earth. Pupils in other schools hold it a disgrace to become ineligible in athletic and scholastic activities. Our pupils are no different from those of other schools. We likewise feel the hurt deeply of valuable men depriving us of their services, through poor scholastic efforts.

In some years one heard the charge of "unfair" hurled at the teachers' backs when a brawny, but not so brainy team prospect was recipient of a faculty "no" as far as his week's gridiron efforts were concerned. However, when we sit in classes with these heroes and find some of them too proud to answer questions, or too disdainful of us common fellows to indulge in a socialized recitation, or discover that they "just simply can't be bothered with that stuff anyway," we sometimes wonder how teachers can only question their eligibility.

After seeing the fight and spirit by every member of the team at Lancaster, we are shocked to learn some of our friends who rose in our estimation to heroes by their "dying for dear old Rutgers" attitude in that game have neglected or forgotten to do their daily classroom training to keep scholastically fit. Realizing it is difficult to spend so much time on a football field and get the old lessons too, we recall with gladness that great day of the year when those who have made the sacrifices necessary to do this are enshrined permanently in that niche of honors before which our light of adoration burns most frequently—that hero of heroes—a C. H. S. letter man.

Fellow football men, let's hit the old assignments so hard they will stay where we place the opposition when they think they can stop our end run. Let's remember that last year's football squad ranked with the average school organization in grades; in fact, it ranked above several organizations of our school, commonly known as honor societies. Of course it had eligibility troubles too. But with our abundance of spirit what do you say to having a "skull practice" mean more than learning a new play?

Everyone, the pupils of the school, the people of Circleville, and the members of the squad, expect to see a team like the one they saw in Lancaster. So let's get busy, football men, and start tackling the lessons so we can tackle those teams that want to keep the Tiger fans from getting the coveted peach we are all after.

FRESHMAN PARTY PLANS ARE MADE

The freshman class has made plans and appointed committees for a Halloween party on Oct. 31. Committees appointed are: Lunch, entertainment, decorating, and clean-up. The party is to be held in the high school gym and auditorium.

The lunch committee consists of three girls. They are: Charlotte Moore, Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick, and Martha Rader.

Helen Melson will have charge of the entertainment. Eddy Phebus, Betty Brown, Fred Smith, and Margaret McCollister made up the decorating committee.

The clean-up committee is Margaret Bower, Dorothy Bartley, Harry Hosler, Billy Steele and Mary Helwagen.

OHIO LEADERS ADDRESS HI-Y

"The Hi-Y club enjoyed one of their most interesting and successful meetings held during the past year, when they met in room 25, Tuesday evening to discuss club troubles with E. V. Donaldson and Ralph Garner, state officers of the Hi-Y clubs," said one member Wednesday morning.

There was almost a 100 per cent attendance, every member responding to the call of the president to be on time.

Mr. Donaldson, associate secretary of state Y. M. C. A. work, led the discussion during the evening on how to improve the local club. He proposed that the local boys do away with the present method of membership, and adopt a platform of purposive membership.

"Your present black-ball system, in which one Hi-Yan can keep another candidate out of the club is obsolete, together with being ancient," Mr. Donaldson said. "In this system personal prejudices are allowed to be voiced, which is a bad thing for any club," he continued.

He highly commended the officers and other members for their promptness in getting the Hi-Yi to function so early in the season. President Plum appointed a membership committee to propose several methods of membership, and to report at the next meeting. The committee includes Robert Greenlee, chairman, Sheldon Mader, Clarence Barnhart, John Hegele, Dudley Mills, and Advisor Gephart.

Ralph Garner announced that there would be a Hi-Y conference at Zanesville, Ohio, Oct. 4, 5 and 6 for southeastern Ohio members, and that Circleville would be entitled to eight delegates. He urged the club to think about whom they would send as delegates.

The meeting closed with the Circle of Friendship when Rev. B. C. De Camp, a member of the advisory council, responded with a prayer.

LESSONS FREE FOR VIOLINISTS

Prof. C. F. Zaenglein is rapidly completing preparations to take care of classes for beginners in violin playing which are to be formed at C. H. S. Any student between the fifth grade and senior year may enlist in the class and receive free instruction under Mr. Zaenglein.

The pupils may use own violins or a new instrument called the Fiddlette will be supplied at cost prices.

The Fiddlette outfit, a sturdy instrument, which has a clear, sweet tone and is more subdued than the violin, is supplied on the time payment plan, at $6.25. Seventy-five cents will be paid at the organization of the class, and twenty-five cents will be paid weekly, until the full payment is made. Advantage of a cash discount may be taken by paying the cash price of $5.75.

The complete outfit includes the instrument set up ready to play, all accessories, rosin, water-proof carrying bag and a very good bow. The instrument when purchased on time payment plan will become the property of the pupil.

According to Mr. Zaenglein, payment of 25 cents weekly is necessary whether or not the pupil is present at class.

Parents who are interested are requested to call or see Mr. Zaenglein at the high school building.

SENIORS CHOOSE 3 COMMITTEES

Senior class held a meeting Thursday after school to appoint committees and announce future events.

It was announced that the class would have the football booth at the Franklin-Circleville game Oct. 11. The committee appointed to take care of the booth is: Mildred Ritt, chairman; Jeanette Bower, Margaret Carter, Grace Steele, Gertrude Lanman, and Earl Millhorns.

It was unanimously decided that the seniors have a Pumpkin Show booth this year. The committee appointed to construct the booth consists of Abram Gordon, chairman; Thomas Stofer, Clarence Barnhart; John Humrod and Berlin Noble.

A standing committee was appointed to be present at invitation luncheon which might make an unexpected visit. It consists of Dorothy Clark, Mildred Greenlee, Earl Millhorns and Sheldon Mader compose this group.

WHAT CREED DO YOU WANT?

What creed should C. H. S. have? If you have not submitted your example of a perfect creed, as suggested by the principal in Monday's assembly, what do you say to selecting one from this list?

Four have been handed to the staff as the best of a senior English class. Each is numbered. Select the creed you believe suits our school and tell Charlotte Caskey of the journalism class what number you have chosen. She will be stationed at the front entrance Monday to tabulate your choice. The name of the winner thus selected will be revealed by Miss Velma Watson, teacher under whose instruction it was written.

A CREED FOR CIRCLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

NUMBER 4
We, as students of Circleville High School, pledge our allegiance to it, as the foundation of our education, both scholastically and socially and as the basis for our success in later life.

TO THE TIGERS! TO THE RED AND BLACK!

NUMBER 13
The school where good morals and standards are set.
In order that we might obtain the highest standard of education.
And honest, clean, square sportsmanship, for our higher ideals in life.

THE SCHOOL CREED

NUMBER ONE
To acquire self-control and self-reliance,
To cooperate with others for the welfare of the school.
To develop in myself an appreciation of the finer things in life.
To be loyal to my school in thought, word and deed, and to give her always my best service.
Shall be my honest endeavor as a member of the Circleville High School.

OUR CREED

NUMBER THREE
We, the students of Circleville High school, will give our best by working and studying, being honest and generous that we may be worthy of this school. We will help, not hinder, give praise to others, and keep criticism for ourselves. And may we so grow that while we are proud of our school, she may feel pride in us, her pupils.

FIRE DRILL CUTS TIME

One minute and fifteen seconds was the time recorded to empty the building at Tuesday's fire drill. This time is 40 seconds shorter than Thursday's of last week. It is hoped that the time will be shortened at least 20 seconds more.

CHEER LEADERS ARE SELECTED

Doris Peters, Bob Rooney, Bob Wilson and Jane Miller have been named cheerleaders for the coming year by a committee of judges, according to an announcement by Principal E. I. Gephart. Friday Other candidates were Gaylord Rose, Jim Drum, Dudley Mills, Charlotte Caskey and Catherine Brown.

The principal would not disclose the names of the committee who made the selections, but he stated the judges were seven competent persons who attended every game and took into consideration the pep and performance of each candidate.

The judges also announced in the event the pep selections do not prove satisfactory throughout the entire football and basketball season, another selection will be made.

GUIDANCE HAS MANY PURPOSES

Excerpts from a few representative guidance classes show the diversity of aims of this new course added to Ohio public schools curricula by the State Department of Education.

FROSH CHOOSE VOCATIONS

Forty-two freshman in room 12 anonymously chose their life vocations during Tuesday guidance period. The selections were: Aviation, 11, teaching, 7, stenographer, 5; nursing, 4; sailor, two, tailor, surveyor, draftsman, engineer, electrician, actress, private secretary, art, lawyer, engineering and electrical research, one vote.

All students gave reasons such as: good pay, easy work, and reasonable hours. Following are a few of the odd reasons:

Aviation—sporty, adventurous, travel, teaches atmospheric conditions, will be fun, easy work, jump from parachutes get pension, chance for advancement, plenty of thrills, be first in family to be aviator, meet people of good standing, make endurance records, and finally in some war if you get killed you would not have to work any more.

Teaching—because mother and three generations back were teachers, work only five days a week, because she likes to preach and it's a good way to begin, one wants to be a history teacher because she's fond of European wars.

Stenographer—clean work, vacation with pay, chance for seeing the world with one's employer, good hours, render good service to society, chance to meet well-bred people, don't have to be out in all kinds of weather, when you're ill there's always some one to take your place.

Nursing—likes to be around sick people, better view of the body, be acquainted with all organs of the body, interesting to watch operations.

Sailor—see the world, shoot a gun, swim a lot, serve their country.

Tailor—so he can fix his own clothes.

Lawyer—so he can keep his family if he has any.

SOPHS HAVE ORATORY

Group one, in charge of Kathryn Brown, provided the program for Tuesday guidance period in Miss Luise Kuhlmann's room.

The program was: Lillian Binkley, poems, The Soft Guitar and Tom Darling; Theda Bowsler, Byrd's Trip to the South Pole; Marcella Allen, History of Logan Elm; Mary Louise Beery, Connor, a short story; Kathryn Brown talked on athletics.

Thursday's program was given by group two and consisted of the following: Florence Camp, Calls a short story; Charlotte Caskey, The Story of the Flag; Eleanor Dean, poems, Your Flag and My Flag; Margaret Buskirk, Squaring the Circle; Alice Cummings, discussion, Officers in Session Room.

Several members of the groups Ellen Bennett in the first and Eleanor Davis in the second, were not present but will give their talks at another time.

Shingles as Improvement
The homes of many of our ancestors in other lands had roofs of tile or tatch. When they came to these shores they found no tiles awaiting them. They made shingles. As it turned out, they were better off without tile or thatched roofs, because the shingles were warmer in winter and cooler in summer. Shingles have been popular in this country for more than 300 years.

FOOTBALL, STUDY AND ELIGIBILITY

We've all heard about the "dying for dear old Rutgers" school spirit and are glad that most of our boys have that spirit, but there is also such a thing as "study for dear old Rutgers."

Eligibility lists passed out to the teachers Monday showed some unripe sprouts cut to earth. Pupils in other schools hold it a disgrace to become ineligible in athletic and scholastic activities. Our pupils are no different from those of other schools. We likewise feel the hurt deeply of valuable men depriving us of their services, through poor scholastic efforts.

In some years one heard the charge of "unfair" hurled at the teachers' backs when a brawny, but not so brainy team prospect was recipient of a faculty "no" as far as his week's gridiron efforts were concerned. However, when we sit in classes with these heroes and find some of them too proud to answer questions, or too disdainful of us common fellows to indulge in a socialized recitation, or discover that they "just simply can't be bothered with that stuff anyway," we sometimes wonder how teachers can only question their eligibility.

To cooperate with others for the welfare of the school.

To develop in myself an appreciation of the finer things in life.

To be loyal to my school in thought, word and deed, and to give her always my best service.

Shall be my honest endeavor as a member of the Circleville High School.

OUR CREED NUMBER THREE

We, the students of Circleville High school, will give our best by working and studying, being honest and generous that we may be worthy of this school. We will help, not hinder, give praise to others, and keep criticism for ourselves. And may we so grow that while we are proud of our school, she may feel pride in us, her pupils.

FIRE DRILL CUTS TIME

One minute and fifteen seconds was the time recorded to empty the building at Tuesday's fire drill. This time is 40 seconds shorter than Thursday's of last week. It is hoped that the time will be shortened at least 20 seconds more.

CHEER LEADERS ARE SELECTED

Doris Peters, Bob Rooney, Bob Wilson and Jane Hitler have been named cheerleaders for the coming year by a committee of judges, according to an announcement by Principal E. I. Gephart, Friday. Other candidates were Gaylord Rose, Jim Drum, Dudley Mills, Charlotte Caskey, and Catherine Brown.

The principal would not disclose the names of the committee who made the selections, but he stated the judges were seven competent persons who attended every game and took into consideration the pep and performance of each candidate.

The judges also announced in the event the present selections do not prove satisfactory throughout the entire football and basket-ball season, another selection will be made.

MARION PLEDGED

Frank Marion, a former graduate of C. H. S., was pledged to Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity of Miami University, Oxford, O.

GUIDANCE HAS MANY PURPOSES

Excerpts from a few representative guidance classes show the diversity of aims of this new course added to Ohio public schools curricula by the State Department of Education.

FROSH CHOOSE VOCATIONS

Forty-two freshmen in room 12 anonymously chose their life vocations during Tuesday guidance period. The selections were:

Aviation, 11; teaching, 7; stenographer, 5; nursing, 4; sailor, 2; tailor, surveyor, draftsman, engineer, electrician, actress, private secretary, art, lawyer, engineering and electrical research, one vote.

All students gave reasons such as good pay, easy work, and reasonable hours. Following are a few of the odd reasons:

Aviation—sporty, adventurous, travel, teaches atmospheric conditions, will be fun, easy work, jump from parachutes get pension, chance for advancement, plenty of thrills, be first in family to be aviator, meet people of good standing, make endurance records, and finally in some war if you get killed you would not have to work any more.

Teaching—because mother and three generations back were teachers, work only five days a week, because she likes to preach and it's a good way to begin, one wants to be a history teacher because she's fond of European wars.

Stenographer—clean work, vacation with pay, chance for seeing the world with one's employer, good hours, render good service to society, chance to meet well-bred people, don't have to be out in all kinds of weather, when you're ill there's always some one to take your place.

Nursing—likes to be around sick people, better view of the body, be acquainted with all organs of the body, interesting to watch operations.

Sailor—see the world, shoot a gun, swim a lot, serve their country.

Tailor—so he can fix his own clothes.

Lawyer—so he can keep his family if he has any.

SOPHS HAVE ORATORY

Shingles an Improvement
The homes of many of our ancestors in other lands had roofs of tile or thatch. When they came to these shores they found no tiles awaiting them. They made shingles. As it turned out, they were better off without tile or thatched roofs, because the shingles were warmer in winter and cooler in summer. Shingles have been popular in this country for more than 300 years.

Bride of the Regiment with VIVIANNE SEGAL, WALTER PIDGEON, ALLAN PRIOR, LOUISE FAZENDA, FORD STERLING, MYRNA LOY, LUPINO LANE, HERE THEY COME

Conquerors of a nation! Lead by a wash-buckling love-pirate! Riding hell-bent into the castle of an un-kissed bride. Never such delightful romance! Never such hilarious comedy! It's the best picture we've shown this year.

She was the queen of all women. Swords clashed for her favors. He was the commander of men. Beautiful girls fought for the honor of his affections. See what happens when they match their wits in one hour of glorious romance. Gigantic settings; thousands in the cast; one hundred voices in one chorus; and the greatest cast of stars ever heard in one picture.

Comedy—Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "Dangerous Females" and M. G. M. News.

Children 10c. Adults 35c.

Claudette Colbert, Chas. Ruggles, Norman Foster in "Young Man of Manhattan."
